The marriage of Miss Fannis M. Lamb, eldest daughter of the late Daniel W. and Mrs. Fannie C. Lamb, of Ledyard, and Joseph Alfred Clark, soa of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Clark, also of Ledyard, took place Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Lamb homestead. The rooms were attractively decorated, the color scheme being green and gold, asparagus and golden rod predominating. Miss Lillian Gallup of Ledyard was organist. As the opening chords of Mendelssohn's wedding march were struck the bride and groom started down the staircase and entered the parlor. The Rev. Jeptha M. Olmstead, pastor of the Old Mystic Baptist church, of which the bride is a member, who performed the marriage rite, awaited them at the improvised altar in the northeast corner of the parlor. The ring service was used. The bride was beautifully gowned in white embroidered batiste and carried white chrisanthemums and asparagus ferns. About forty guests, members of the two families and a few intimate friends, witnessed the ceremony. A brief reception followed, after which refreshments of chicken salad, sandwiches, fruft, cake, ice cream and fruit punch were served. The Misses Bertha Crane Lamb, sister of the bride, and Cassie Louise Crane, cousin of the bride, acted as ushers. The presents were valuable and useful and consisted of silver, china, glass and linen. The bride looked charming in her going away gown, a tailor made sult of gray cloth, and wore a large black hat. After a brief honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Clark returned to their new home, all furnished and in readiness for them, erected near Poquetanuck. Mr. Clark is one of Ledyard's successful young farmers
